Criminals Have More Rights Than Law Abiding Citizens "Government Has No Teeth"

Dear Supporter,

Vagrancy, crime, prostitution, pollution and uncontrolled squatting has spread through Cape Town like a wildfire the last few years, while the DA sits and watches.

Alderman Carin Brynard of the Cape Independence Party has been fighting to bring back law and order but the City of Cape Town is doing its best to stop her.

In a recent vote, the 10 seat subcouncil voted 9 to 1 against Alderman Brynard's motion to combat the rampant decay caused by the uncontrolled squatting.

9 Councillors, from the DA and FF+, all voted against Brynard. She was the lone voice calling for Council to erect fencing to prevent the uncontrolled and open entry of vagrants into the surrounding residential areas.

On a daily basis, Brynard receives phone calls from residents who are at their end trying to deal with the crime, prostitution, pollution and open fires that have taken over the area.

Brynard works regularly with law enforcement as well as with social development teams and homes, who are told they can legally only "offer" shelter services and alternative accommodation, which 90% of the squatters refuse, choosing to stay and build shacks, start fires, engage in public prostitution and other activities which threaten the safety of surrounding neighbourhoods' residents .

Brynard says, "Criminals have more rights than law abiding citizens. The government has no teeth."
